GUITAR AMPLIFIERS CUSTOM MADE IN ENGLAND

Victory VX The Kraken coming August 2015

Victory Amplification from the UK proudly announces VX The Kraken, a 50-watt box of glorious gain tones for hard rock, metal, extended-range and progressive players.

Forget clean sounds: our latest all-valve compact head starts with crunching rhythm tones, and sears on to all the gain you'll ever need. You can use it at home, on stage or in the studio: VX The Kraken will even travel as hand luggage when you fly.

1. TWO FOOTSWITCHABLE GAIN MODES

Gain I offers modded classic, master-volume British rock sounds. Gain II is our unique take on contemporary American high gain tones

2. POWERFUL EQ

Shared across both gain modes, but optimised for each

3. TWO FOOTSWITCHABLE MASTER VOLUMES

Footswitch between two master volume levels at any time

4. HIGH & LOW POWER

50 watts full power; 15 watts low power. (9 or 2 watts when used with single-ended mode)

5. BASS FOCUS SWITCH

Much more than a bass EQ, this changes the negative feedback in the power amp, offering tighter, more focussed low end, or more loose and resonant

6. SINGLE-ENDED MODE

Switch down to single-ended mode (from full power, push-pull) to use just one output valve for lower output, more compression and different playing dynamics

7. 6L6 or EL34 VALVES

Bias switch enables use of either tube type. (For best results, the amp should be biased by a tech with any output valve change)

8. SERIES EFFECTS LOOP

For players who like to run effects in a loop rather than into the front of the amp. Footswitchable on/off

9. FLEXIBLE SWITCHING

Gain I/II, Master I/II and FX loop on/off. Footswitches included

The obvious question...

What are the main differences between VX The Kraken and V30 The Countess, and who are they for?

- VX has a grey chassis. V30 is black
- VX has two gain channels. V30 has clean and gain channels
- VX is aimed directly at hard rock, metal, extended-range and progressive players. V30 is a rock all-rounder
